

How did the founding fathers of our American nation come up with the idea of basing our government on three equal but separate branches: the executive, legislative, and judicial?

The Answer May Surprise You !

When our founding fathers shut themselves behind locked doors for the purpose of writing a constitution for our nation in 1787, they had to come up with a whole new system of governance. There were no other national constitutions to use as a pattern. After debating and disagreeing for some time, they finally found what they were looking for; it was in one verse in the Holy Bible: Isaiah 33:22 speaks of a King [the executive], a Lawgiver [the legislative], and a Judge [the judicial branch]. So it is that our American government was founded on this one verse in the Holy Bible. It was this basic structure that has allowed the American nation to progress in many ways far beyond any nation that has ever been before it.

It is also reported that on June 28, 1787, this constitutional convention came to a stopping point because of disagreements; they did not know where to look for a proper structure for our government. It was at that point that Benjamin Franklin spoke up and suggested that a prayer be made to the divine authority for guidance in their search. It was shortly after that prayer was made that James Madison (later elected fourth president) brought the Isaiah passage to the convention's attention.

Now, the obvious question is: How is it that many in this nation have turned against the Holy Bible and almost all forms of religion? What will be the end result of our nation's rebelling against the Holy Bible and its God?

Note: The Isaiah passage originated in the Jewish Bible. So, today, both Jews and Christians who believe the Bible honor Isaiah's writings.

If anyone wishes to reply to this writer, please write me at: Mr.James7@ATT.net

Signed: Mr. James

How did the founding fathers of our American nation come up with the idea of basing our government on three equal but separate branches: the executive, legislative, and judicial?

The Answer May Surprise You !

When our founding fathers shut themselves behind locked doors for the purpose of writing a constitution for our nation in 1787, they had to come up with a whole new system of governance. There were no other national constitutions to use as a pattern. After debating and disagreeing for some time, they finally found what they were looking for; it was in one verse in the Holy Bible: Isaiah 33:22 speaks of a King [the executive], a Lawgiver [the legislative], and a Judge [the judicial branch]. So it is that our American government was founded on this one verse in the Holy Bible. It was this basic structure that has allowed the American nation to progress in many ways far beyond any nation that has ever been before it.

It is also reported that on June 28, 1787, this constitutional convention came to a stopping point because of disagreements; they did not know where to look for a proper structure for our government. It was at that point that Benjamin Franklin spoke up and suggested that a prayer be made to the divine authority for guidance in their search. It was shortly after that prayer was made that James Madison (later elected fourth president) brought the Isaiah passage to the convention's attention.

Now, the obvious question is: How is it that many in this nation have turned against the Holy Bible and almost all forms of religion? What will be the end result of our nation's rebelling against the Holy Bible and its God?

Note: The Isaiah passage originated in the Jewish Bible. So, today, both Jews and Christians who believe the Bible honor Isaiah's writings.

If anyone wishes to reply to this writer, please write me at: Mr.James7@ATT.net

Signed: Mr. James